AIDA NOUR

Originally from Alexandria, Egypt, Aida started her dance career as a young dancer in the Alexandria

Troupe. She performed Egyptian Folklore dances & solos for many years with the troupe until moving to Cairo. There she became a member of the famous Reda Troupe. She began to perform as a solo dancer & gained huge success. Aida performed in many of Cairo's famous five-star hotels & nightclubs for many years & became a very loved & popular artist. Aida now gives guest performances & workshops throughout the world & designs costumes for performers.

MAGDY EL-LEISY

It all started with a hobby: sports. This led him to his true calling: dance. Magdy began his training at age nine. By age eleven, he was already participating in performances at the Cairo Opera. Out of 2600 candidates, Magdy was one of six boys & eleven girls to be accepted to the Academy of Music & Theatre (ballet department). Magdy El-Leisy has danced Egyptian folklore with many well-known artists in theatre, film and television productions. "My goal is to bring the western audience closer to the oriental dance. I have therefore developed my own method of teaching Egyptian style. In this way, I hope that my message will reach the audience & benefit those wishing to learn the art of oriental dance."
